Avaloskitesvara Bodhisattva, while profoundly contemplating the Prajna Paramita, realized that the Five Skandhas are empty, and thus he was able to overcome all sufferings. Sariputra, form is not different from emptiness, emptiness is not different from form; form is emptiness, and emptiness is form. The same is for feeling, conception, volition, and consciousness. Sariputra, emptiness is the nature of all dharmas. It neither arises nor ceases, can neither be defiled nor cleansed, neither increase nor decrease. Therefore, in emptiness there is no form, no feeling, conception, volition or consciousness; no eyes, ears, nose, tongue, body or mind; no form, sound, smell, taste, touch or conception; no object of eye consciousness; no ignorance, nor its cessation; no aging and no death, nor their cessation; no suffering, causes, cessation, nor the path; no wisdom, and nothing to attain.

As there is nothing to attain, a bodhisattva relying on the Prajna Pramita has neither worry nor obstruction, without worry and obstruction, there is no fear, away from confusion and dreaming, and thus reaches Nirvana. Buddhas of the past, present, and future, also rely on the Prajna Paramita to attain Supreme Enlightenment. Thus, one should know that Prajna Paramita is the great mantra, the mantra of illumination, the supreme of all mantras. It is unequalled and able to alleviate all sufferings. This is true and not false. Thus, in proclaiming the Prajna Paramita Mantra, it is said, "Gate, Gate, Paragate, Parasamgate, Bodhi svaha!"

A Prayer for the Offering of Light

Oh great, compassionate Buddha!

Please accept the offering of the lamp of our minds;

In ancient times, humankind moved forward

From a primitive state through the discovery of fire;

Thereafter, a thousand-year-old dark room could be instantly brightened

By lighting of a lamp;

Ships navigating in the night could identify directions

By signals from a lighthouse;

Pedestrians in dark alleys could walk without fear

By the illumination of street lights.

Light is indeed very important!

However, the tens of thousands of lights in this world

Cannot compare to even a small fraction of yours!

For only the Buddha's light can add brightness to this gloomy world,

Only the lamp of the Dharma can illuminate confused minds.

Your appearance in this world

To reveal the Dharma and benefit us with joy

Has lit the light of Truth;

From that moment on,

All beings in the sea of suffering have the hope of being rescued,

All sentient beings in the world have joyously obtained the prospect of being liberated.

Many people have freed themselves from the prison of sorrow,

Many people have escaped the flaming house of torment.

Oh great, compassionate Buddha!

The lamp of our mind that we offer to you now

Has no form or image;

It is the torch illuminated

From our Dharma-body and the life of wisdom;

It is the state of mind ignited

From our all-embracing Dharma body.

We pray for your blessings, Buddha:

May the lamp of our minds

Illuminate all of the numerous worlds;

May the light of our hearts

Bless and protect all sentient beings:

For this lamp is our suchness and Buddha Nature,

For this lamp is our Dharma-body and the life of wisdom.

Oh great, compassionate Buddha!

Much indebted to your prophecy,

The light offered by the poor woman Nanda

Enabled her to attain Buddhahood

And become the future Dipamkara Buddha;

The eternal light on Mountain Hiei in Japan

Has continued to shine all these years.

We would like to express this clearly to you, Buddha,

That today we are here to offer this lamp not for ourselves,

But in the hope that everyone

Will have a bright, glorious future,

In the hope that everyone

Someday will attain Buddhahood together.

Again, we would like to pray for your support, Buddha:

May this light of ours be transformed

Into countless lights that shine on each other

To light up the hope for abetter tomorrow for humankind.

Oh great, compassionate Buddha!

In this world,

There are people who need you to grant them

The light to turn over a new leaf;

There are people who need you to grant them

The light to self-examine and reflect;

There are people who need you to grant them

The light of honesty and trust;

There are people who need you to grant them

The light of faith and fortitude.

They are all praying for the blessing of your light of compassion.

May everyone ignite the light of the heart soon;

May everyone discover the true Buddha Nature;

May everyone shine on each other and benefit each other;

May everyone shine on forever into the boundless future.

Oh great, compassionate Buddha,

Please accept our sincerest prayer!

Oh great, compassionate Buddha,

Please accept our sincerest prayer!
